Senate Committees Approved

Student Senate plans for next year took another step forward last Monday evening, when committee appointments made by next year's executive committee of the Senate were approved.

Present at Monday evening's meeting were members of both this year's and next year's Student Senate. The outgoing president, Bob Gronlund, opened the meeting, but then turned it over to the incoming president, Jim Keller, who made the appointments on behalf of the Senate's executive committee.

Bonderud Research Head.

Newly created research committee will have as its chairman Omar Bonderud, student body vice-president next year. Others on the committee are Francis Neumann and William Biedermann, juniors; Katherine Smith, sophomore, and one member to be selected from next year's freshman representatives to Student Senate.

Norman Fintel, sophomore, will be chairman of the student activities committee. Working with him will be George Roleder, junior, named vice-chairman; John Walker and Ray Meier, juniors; Betty Boebel and Ruth Meyer, freshmen, and one member of next year's freshman class.

Named as chairman of the elections committee was Judy Vogel, sophomore. Harold Wiltshire, sophomore, and Cliff Maiden, freshman, along with two of next fall's freshman members of Student Senate, will complete the membership of the elections committee.

Rand Heads Social Center.

Howard Rand, freshman, was named chairman of the social center committee. Other two positions on the committee will be filled by Melvin Kramer, freshman, and Ruth Engelbrecht, junior.

Appointments were also announced for the student members of next year's faculty-student committees. John Walker, junior, and Dolores Lund, sophomore, will be the student representatives on the religious activities committee.

Student members of the Artist Series committee next year will be Robert Floy, junior, and Paula Schiffler, freshman, while student publications committee will have the services of Omar Bonderud and Harold Kruger, juniors.

Snyder, Kramer Named.

Lois Snyder and Melvin Kramer were appointed to the cafeteria and Den committee and, completing the faculty-student committees, Paul S. Bruns, junior, Harold Wiltshire, sophomore, and Paul Schubert, freshman, were named to the athletics committee.

Bill Biedermann, junior, will serve next year as director of the intramurals program. Assisting him will be LeRoy Aden, Norman Fintel, and Ray Ehlers, sophomores, and Clifford Maiden and Daniel Conrath, freshmen.

Final business of the meeting saw Bernice Smith, sophomore, and Howard Rand, freshman, elected as student representatives to next year's Faculty-Student Council.

George Awakes In Production Of Hit Drama

By Claude Grelling

George Washington woke up and came to life last Wednesday and Thursday nights in the Wartburg Players' production of the Hart and Kaufman Broadway hit, "George Washington Slept Here."

After the curtain fell on the final act, the audience had witnessed a smooth performance studded with newly-discovered talent. The cast gave a pleasant and, at times, highly comical performance.

Out of the large cast, a few names emerged with well-nigh stellar performances. The Oscar for the evening undoubtedly goes to Harold Wienke, freshman, for his hilarious interpretation of the Maine lumberjack, Mr. Kimber. Although holding but a supporting role, Wienke excelled in the rendition of a character made to order for him and stole many a scene from the leading characters.

Congratulations must also go to Carol Leichsenring, sophomore, who showed considerable acting talent in one of the leads as Annaballe Fuller. Playing opposite her was Gerald Koehler, senior, as Newton Fuller.

Finally, Sylvia Meyn, junior, deserves a hand for her masterful interpretation of the sophisticated, carefree actress, Rena Leslie. Doris Herrboldt, sophomore, must also be mentioned for her true-to-life rendition of ten teen-aged rascal, Raymond.

Much of the credit for the success of the play must go to Director Raymond Wilderman, head of the speech department, and to his assistant, Paul Mundal, senior. Paul Kroeger, veteran stage manager, and his crew deserve our congratulations for their professional-looking stage setting.

Engagement Revealed

Engagement of Maxine Westendorf and Herbert Freese, both of Waverly, was announced this week. Miss Westendorf is employed at Lutheran Mutual and Freese is a freshman at Wartburg.

Dr. C. Umhau Wolf Chi Rho Speaker

Dr. C. Umhau Wolf, professor of Old Testament at Chicago Lutheran seminary, Maywood, Ill., will be the speaker at Chi Rho Sunday, May 8, at 2 p.m. in chapel hall. The topic of his speech will be "Vocation of the Pastor."

Following the address will be a discussion period. Although it is a Chi Rho meeting, offices stated that all students interested are invited to attend.

Den, Caf Approved By State Association

Approval of the Wartburg college Den and cafeteria by the Iowa State Restaurant association was announced this week by C. W. Pries, college business manager.

Association signs have been placed on the doors of both places, indicating that good food, service, health and hospitality are available.

Original Works Prove Department Outstanding

By Janice Frese

Original compositions by the music theory classes presented in convocation Tuesday, May 3, and Thursday, May 5, proved once again that Wartburg's music department is outstanding.

No doubt most enthusiastically received were the two new pep songs by Robert Dotzauer, sophomore, and W. Keith Baessler, senior. Many favorable comments were heard concerning these songs, and everyone seemed to be in general agreement that these pep songs should be used in the future.

Freshmen Show Capabilities.

Even the freshman theory class showed that it is capable of composing. "Melody in G," composed by Barbara Wiesl, freshman, and also played on the piano by her, seemed that it could easily have popular lyrics put to it. Another freshman, Wanda Mae Zell, composed a clever piece entitled "Waltz in Springtime," which was sung by Judy Vogel, sophomore.

Original titles were even present in the compositions, such as "Hypermatropia" (far - sightedness) by Donald Meints, sophomore, and "Tepee Teardrop" by Dorothy Dahlstrom of the junior theory class.

Adding the technique of chorale harmonization brought forth several fine numbers from the sophomore theory class. "God Is Our Hope" by Jim Fritschel, sophomore, was definitely inspirational and was well received by the audience.

Ray Sets Poem To Music.

Ray Hellener, sophomore, put Alfred Lord Tennyson's poem "Crossing the Bar" to music successfully. Herb Richmann's "Opus No. 1" displayed his talent not only at composing but also as a pianist. "Bouncin' Rag" by Marvin Goetz provided a little boogie for variety.

Showing skill in duet arrangements was Alton Schwandt, junior, whose number brought enthusiastic applause.

Junior theory class presented three composers—Dorothy Dahlstrom, Esther Blasius and Lois Snyder, all of whom showed great skill.

All students participating displayed talent in their compositions and performances, and just credit should also be given to their instructors.

Chapel Choir Plans May 15 Concert

Wartburg chapel choir is scheduled to present its home concert on Sunday evening, May 15, according to Edfield A. Odegard, director of the choral group.

Final concert will climax a series of week-end trips to various communities throughout Iowa. Included on the program is a full selection of a cappella numbers, some of them arranged by Mr. Odegard, conductor.

Gold Rush Banquet Theme

Spirit of the California gold rush of 1849 was the emphasis last evening when the junior class entertained the class of 1949 at the annual junior-senior banquet in St. Paul's parish house.

Main speakers were two seniors —Robert Grenlund, who spoke on his reactions to higher education after four years of college, and Miriam Bredow, who emphasized the spiritual side of the college graduate's future. Toastmaster was Omar Bonderud, junior.

Welcome to the banquet by Harold Meyer, junior class prexy, the audience sat at tables decorated with covered wagons and "fool's gold." On the stage were mannequins dressed as college graduates and 49'ers.

Gerald Herbster, senior class president, responded to the welcome and officially presented the new Knights gymnasium sign to the college. Representing the administration was Dr. G. J. Neumann, vice-president of the college.

Entertainment for the banquet was provided by a quartet from Streator, Ill., headed by the Rev. Hans Sandrock, Wartburg alumnus.

A Little Will Help A Lot In The Clothing Drive

Why Low Recital Attendance?

Last week two Wartburg students appeared in their junior music recital at the high school auditorium. A few weeks before that a student vocalist gave her senior recital in the college gymnasium. Both presentations were well received by an appreciative audience, because the musicians showed superior talent. But the audiences, appreciative though they were, were small in both cases, just as they usually are at student recitals.

Why do so few people—students and faculty members alike—attend these recitals? Is it because people are too busy with other things? Or because the talent is not worthy of attention? Or because the recitals are not well advertised?

When all rationalizations have been removed and the facts are revealed, we find that one common fault is the main cause of the small attendance at student recitals—NEGLIGENCE.

That does not mean negligence of college spirit alone. It means an omission of a sense of duty to our education. It indicates a lack of true appreciation for the rightfully-called "finer things in life."

We at Wartburg have been blessed with an excellent music department, top-flight students in it and many opportunities to hear and appreciate the products of that department. Unfortunately, we do not avail ourselves of these opportunities as much as we could or should.

Within the next week Wartburg students will present at least four recitals. In spite of term papers, preparation for exams and all the work that goes with the ending of a college year, let us attempt to do justice to our music students and to ourselves by attending at least some of these recitals.

No Chance For Peace

May 12 is the day when the almost year-old Berlin blockade will be lifted. For a little less than twelve months the capitol of the old Reich has been the focal point, the potential powder barrel of the cold war between east and west. Next Thursday, that phase of the war of nerves will come to an end.

In view of the lifting of the blockade, now seems to be as good a time as any to examine the effects of the last twelve months of tension. What, if anything, have we gained or lost in Germany during the last year?

We have gained much. We have gained the respect of a defeated nation in danger of being swallowed up by a victorious dictatorship. We have gained the support of the German people for the democratic ideal, at least as long as it is opposed to Soviet communism.

In addition to that, we have gained the respect of Russia—not for our ideal, not for the way of life which we stand for, but for our military and organizational superiority exhibited in the already-legendary Berlin airlift. The hundreds of planes thundering over Berlin day and night spoke louder than any diplomat could speak. Those planes wrote a tale of loyalty and courage, of determination and sacrifice into the sky of Germany. It is a tale which Russia will not forget for a long time to come.

But we also have lost something—something which is much more important than the support of the German people, or even the respect of the Kremlin. We have lost our faith in Russia as a peaceful nation, and with it we have lost our last chance of settling our differences on a peaceful basis. Never again will we be able to bargain with Russia in good faith. The spectre of the Berlin blockade has widened the gap between east and west until it can no longer be bridged.

An armistice is about the only arrangement to which we could ever come. Peace is a notion which is slowly vanishing from the face of the earth. As two independent sovereign nations, Russia and America will never meet in mutual trust and understanding. The dice have been thrown; our gamble for peace has been lost.

Boy With Plymouth

Jim Camera Prexy

Jim Huebner

By Bob Snyder

Jim Huebner came into the shadowy, cooling recesses of room 209, North hall, remarked about the heat and humidity of which we had plenty that day, sat down on a bed and with a little prodding, spoke a little about everything from photography to Plymouths.

He has been interested in photography for about five years, ever since he got a little three-dollar developing and printing set from Montgomery Ward and built a cardboard darkroom for himself. Later he bought a press camera and went into commercial photography. With money earned from his lucrative hobby he built a permanent darkroom and bought better equipment.

This 26-year-old sophomore has served as prexy of the Camera club this past year. The organization, sponsored by Mr. A. E. Haefner, has as its purpose the stimulation of interest in photography and instruction in developing and printing. The Camera club, public relations department and student publications, with help from the college general fund, purchased the equipment, which is in the basement of North hall.

Next year the club plans to hold an intercollegiate salon with other colleges in Iowa and also continue dark room instruction.

Jim hails from Sumner and commutes to Wartburg in a 1940 Plymouth, which is up for sale by the owner at the present time. Anyone interested should contact the man whose picture appears with this article. He is taking business administration here at Wartburg.

His outside interests include all spectator sports, tennis and golf; he is also a member of the Knight golf team.

He and Fran Neumann discovered familiar interests in the process of the conversation; their fathers are both Plymouth-Chrysler-DeSoto dealers. When he and Fran started arguing over the so-called better features of Plymouths against Forrest Drozer and his Chevrolet, this reporter decided it was time to leave.

Knights Spill Norse, Lose To UIU

By Adam Meidinger

Wartburg Knights came out of their losing rut momentarily last Wednesday before a large Senior day crowd to squeeze out a 6-5 win over the Luther Norsemen before returning to their losing way the following day by dropping a 15-6 decision to Upper Iowa at Fayette.

Paul (Red) Lechner was the big show for the Knights against Luther. Besides hurling seven-hit ball, the diminutive carrot-top mainstay of the Wartburg pitching staff collected three hits in six times at bat, driving in two important runs.

Little Al Braunschweig, Knight third-baseman, also proved to be a vital cog as he hit three for five, driving in the winning run in the eleventh inning.

Game Is Thriller.

As was expected, the game turned into another thriller between the two traditional rivals.

Luther drew first blood when John Hansen, who had four for five for the day, slapped a sharp single into left and it was turned into a freak home run when Max Fliehler slipped on the wet grass, the ball rolling past him.

Wartburg exploded for four runs in the sixth. Michaelson and Pete Muller drew free tickets to first and Fliehler got on on an error to load the sacks. Lechner punched

Leading Knight Hitters

	At Bat	Hits	Ave.
Paul Bruns	27	13	.481
Al Braunschweig	14	4	.333
John Michaelson	25	8	.307
Lloyd Spier	23	7	.304

a timely single into left-center, scoring two runs. Two outs later, Stan Wigner hit a blooper over the infield that fell in for a double, sending two more Knights across the plate.

Norsemen Score.

Luther scored once more in the eighth and again in the ninth to send the game into extra innings.

This was one game in which the Knights refused to give up and the Black and Orange kept fighting back.

Lloyd Spier opened the last of the eleventh with a single. Paul Bruns, who had been held hitless until now, followed with a single, and both men advanced when third-baseman Hracek made a wild throw over first.

Michaelson laid down a bunt to squeeze Spier home with the tying run, and then, with the bases full, Braunschweig lifted a blooper over the infield to send in Bruns with the winning run.

Thursday Not Rosy.

Things were not quite so rosy Thursday when the Upper Iowa Peacocks blasted five Wartburg hurlers for 15 runs on 14 hits, including two doubles, two triples and a home run.

It appeared to be quite a battle for 4 2/3 innings until the Knight starter, Gus Begalske, gave up with a lame arm. The score at that time was tied at three-all.

Big Bill Hansen relieved Begalske and gave up four runs in the next two frames. The Peacocks nicked "Tiny Jess" Bork for three more in the seventh.

The proud birds rolled out their big guns in the eighth and when the shooting was over, the Peacocks had plated six runs. Twelve men had batted before lefty Dean Beneke, who had relieved Dick Zimmerman, could put out the fire.

Wartburg Scores.

Wartburg scored once in the third, twice in the fourth, once more in the seventh and got its final two markers in the ninth.

Today, the Knights are at La Crosse, Wis., for a game with the La Crosse teachers in a game that was scheduled only this week.

Wartburg has a rough week of baseball coming up. Four games are on tap unless the weatherman says otherwise. In fact, a little rain probably would do no harm, because the Knights will have to face some tough foes and pitching strength and depth will be a problem for Coach Earnie Oppermann.

Knights Will Try.

The Knights will try for revenge on Upper Iowa on Wednesday when the two clubs meet on the Wartburg field. "Red" Lechner will probably do the chucking for the Knights and he could make the story end differently this time.

Friday, the Knights meet the powerful Buena Vista Beavers in a game under the lights at Storm Lake, and the following day Wartburg will be at LeMars for a twin bill with Westmar.

And that's not all! After one day's rest, Wartburg meets Simpson in a doubleheader at Waverly and on the following day the Knights travel to Decorah to tackle Luther.

"Say, Mr. Weatherman, what's the weather report?"

Golfers Lose Match To Luther Linksters

Knight linksters lost a golf match to Luther on Senior day, 9½ – 5½. Emil Stubenvoll and Dan Pradel won their matches, 3-0 and 2½ – ½, respectively.

Emil was medalist for the day with a low score of 75 for the par 70 course.

Previous to that match the Knights lost to TC, 12½ to 2½, with Stubenvoll getting the score for the Knights. Stubenvoll and Don Morasch were entered in the Iowa Collegiate Golf tournament on April 29. Stubie played the course in a 75, to tie for third place. This match included contestants from such schools as SUI, ISC and ISTC.

Remainder of the golf season is as follows:

May 11—Dubuque university, here.

May 13—Iowa State Teachers, there.

May 18—Dubuque university, there.

Results of the match with Luther are as follows:

STUBENVOLL defeated Hislop, 3 - 0.

Fjelstad defeated MORASCH, 3 - 0.

Erickson defeated CORSON, 3 - 0.

PRIDEAUX defeated Larson, 2½ - ½.

Halverson defeated HUEBNER, 3 - 0.

Track Team To Augustana Meet

Taking time out to get their breath, LeRoy Quandt and Waldo Platte stopped long enough to enable the photographer to get a picture of the physiques that have come in with first and second places in Wartburg's last two track meets.

Coach "Ax" Bundgaard's track team is participating in the Viking Olympics at Augustana college, Rock Island, Ill. today. At least 19 men made the trip to this meet in which only Lutheran colleges participate.

Wartburg's cindermen participated in two track meets last week, coming in second at a triangular meet at Luther on April 26 and losing a dual meet to Dubuque university on April 29.

Knights showed up well at the triangular meet at Luther in which track teams from the host school, Upper Iowa and Wartburg participated. Wartburg finished a close second with 63½ points to Luther's 65½ points, while Upper Iowa trailed with 41 tallies.

Wartburg Wins Firsts.

First places were won by four Wartburg tracksters—Platte in the two-mile, Keller in the high jump, Fintel in the javelin and Fredrick in the broad jump. Outstanding point getter for the Knights, however, was Bobby Campbell, who placed third in the high jump, tied for second in the pole vault and took second in the broad jump.

Last Friday the track squad met a strong Dubuque team in a dual meet at Dubuque and lost by a 92½ to 40½ score. Wartburg again dominated the two-mile event, with Platte and Quandt coming in with first and second places.

Following are the results of the Dubuque meet:

Mile—Johannssen (D) first, Tews (W) second, Johannsen (D) third. 4:39.6.

100-yard dash—Connell (D) first, Scharlepp (D) second, Fredrick (W) third. 10.8.

440—Scaumberg (D) first, Polenz (W) second, Johnson (D) third. 53.8.

High hurdles—Williams (D) first, Cannon (D) second, Young (W) third. 16.1.

880—Johannsen (D) first, Siebert (D) second, Buenting (W) third. 2.07.8.

Platte Takes Two-Mile.

2-mile — Platte (W) first, Quandt (W) second, Hinman (D) third. 10:23.9.

Low hurdles—Williams (D) first, Cannon (D) second, Sauerbry (W) third. 28.0.

Mile relay—Dubuque. 3:42.7.

from Engel's Angle

Coach "Nellie" Nelson came up with something new for the Wartburg football team when he called for a spring football practice. The sessions did not last long, as "Nellie" is busy with his golf and tennis teams. Between twelve and fifteen boys reported out for the practices.

"Nellie" is looking for a center for next year's eleven. Roy Petersen, a guard on last year's squad, was one of the men tried at the center spot. As most of the footballers are out for either track or baseball, not much could be accomplished outside of a few fundamentals.

Umpires are still as blind as ever. That was the report that the baseball team brought back from Simpson. Lloyd Spier, Knight shortstop, was ejected from the game for arguing too loud and long with one of the decisions of the boys in blue.

The day after the Simpson affair, the Chicago Cubs also took a beating because of the umpire, Andy Pafko. Cub centerfielder, was certain that he caught the ball to end the game, but the ump said that he trapped it. The St. Louis Cardinal player who had hit the ball went all the way around for a home run and a 4-3 victory.

It so happened that five Wartburg students were in Chicago to see this game, one of the students being Adam Meidinger, a TRUMPET sportswriter.

Wartburg Hall Is 'Hen Session' Quarters

By Marianne Schmidt

Midnight hen session . . . a dozen ears pricking up to the sound of a ringing phone . . . a box from home to be devoured . . . the bitter, all-pervading silence the night before finals begin. Ah, 'tis dormitory life, and Wartburg hall is no exception to these collegiate characteristics.

Like most dormitories, this home of 104 underclass coeds is directed by a housemother, Mrs. Rose LaBahn, and a house council, Alma Dittmer is president. And as in most dorms, every girl rates her floor an enthusiastic "Best!"

Take that select group of 12 on first for example. They offer proof positive as to the superiority of their floor.

'We Aren't Divided.'

"We really get to know each other well. We aren't divided into cliques at all here," began Irene Streng.

"And we never get mad at each other. We've never had a serious argument yet," said Paula Schiffler.

To keep first floor from sounding too "prissy" Phyllis Frel couldn't help adding that when a fellow calls one of the girls there for a date, he usually has to talk to all her friends first.

Of course, the other floors must not be neglected. It seems the second has three engagements to boast. And there's a peculiar tradition on this floor regarding these events.

They Initiate Engaged.

"As soon as the news is out, we push the girl into the bath tub—clothes all all!" said Dorothy Stief.

One of the advantages of second floor is that it's "right in between"—a nice sociable distance from the others. Of course that might be said for third too—and it is! Aside from that, Dorothy Obermeyer and Margaret Westphal vow it is the friendliest floor in the whole dorm.

Fourth floor gals, hardly daring to brag about the convenient position of their floor, find plenty of other superlatives to describe it. It's the "newest"—just give a look to that shiny linoleum floor-covering—and the "noisiest—look who lives here!"

Lucy, Barb Add Info.

Lucille Wenzler and Barbara Wuest have further information.

"We have a family of schmoos up here, and it's multiplying all the time."

Sure enough, in their room every available space was covered by a schmoo. On their dresser was a little blue egg.

"We're waiting," said Lucy simply.

Just one short of a dozen, these Wartburg hall coeds are having a general get-together before retiring for a little "shut-eye." This nightly affair gives the girls a chance to review the day's events, make predictions about the future and discuss the latest episode with their favorite beaux.

Plans To Be Made At Trumpet Meeting

Plans for next year's staff will be made at the regular TRUMPET meeting to be held next Tuesday evening, May 10, at 7:30 p.m. in room 14A.

All persons interested in working on the TRUMPET next year should attend this meeting, according to Bill Boyken, next year's editor. Those who have been on the TRUMPET staff this year will, of course, be expected, but numerous additions will be made to next year's staff and it is hoped that many others will come to the Tuesday meeting. Also, especially invited are those considering enrolling in reporting class.

Under the new point system adopted for next year, it will be possible to earn a journalism letter not only for writing, but also for work in the proof-reading, advertising or circulation departments. Workers in these latter activities will be especially needed next year.

Class Will Travel

Magazine articles and newspaper features class will travel to Des Moines next Tuesday, May 10, to visit the Des Moines Register and Tribune and the Meredith Publishing plants.
